Contact a suggested referee

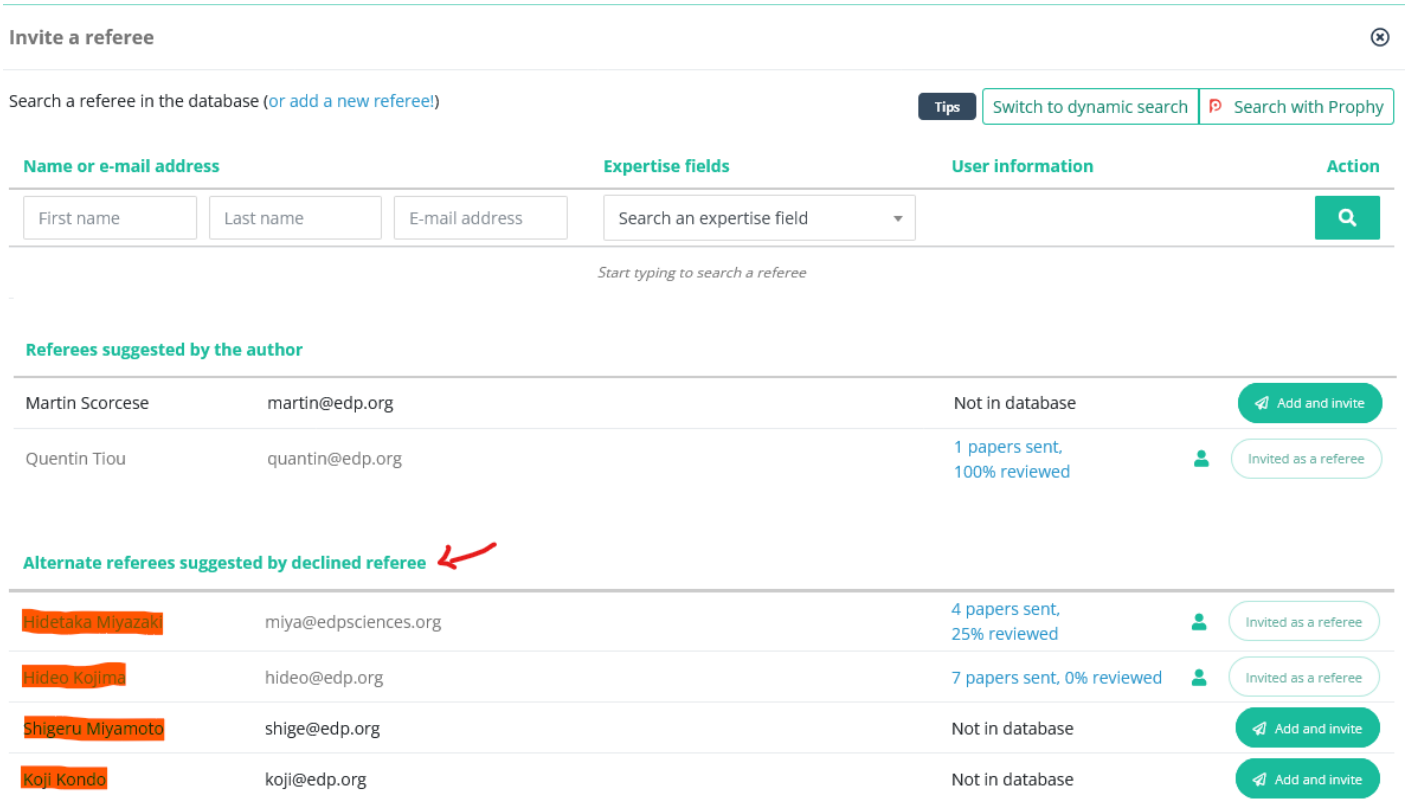

In the referee module, click on the ‘Invite a referee’ button.

If the journal requests this information during submission, you will have the possibility to invite the referee(s) suggested by the author.

Declined referees can also suggest their own colleagues to help you find an appropriate expert:

In any case, Nestor will check and inform you

- if the suggested referee is absent in the data base (in which case you will need to create the referee)
- or if the suggested referee has already been contacted to review the paper
