

3.30 - ORCID fixes, field update when triggering e-mail (rules)

15 April 2022

- User account pages:
  - Account pages may now be modified on the fly. No more need to use clumsy save buttons =)
- Numerous fixes regarding ORCID:
  - Nestor accounts cannot be created via ORCID any more. ORCID authorization policy proved too confusing )=
  - Authors, co-authors and referees are now invited to link their ORCID accounts when completing a critical action (paper submission, report upload...)
  - Editors cannot edit ORCID ids on other users any more, this complies with ORCID policies and simplify ORCID management.
- Custom fields
  - Select custom fields may now be updated automatically when sending an e-mail, by creating a rule in the mail template configuration.
  - Custom fields may now be searched with the advanced search feature
- Nestor mail system address
  - Nestor now correctly fills the sender name when sending e-mails
  - The "reply-to" address is no longer generic, and may now be configured for each journal
